

Built for Measurable Compliance Impact

Policy Management

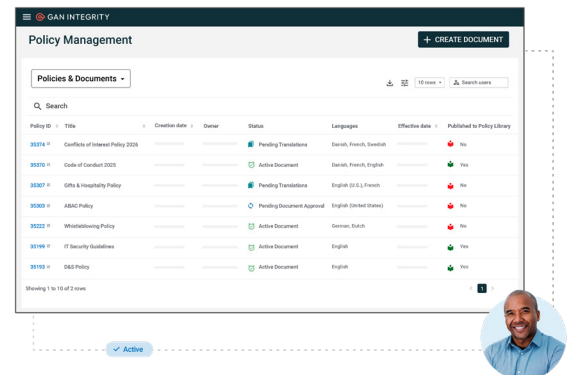

Ground policies in clear ownership, approvals, and accountability; deliver them in ways that drive employee interaction, and connect them to the activities that prove compliance in action.

Too often, policies live in silos disconnected from the people they're meant to guide. Bring structure to policy management to reduce risk, strengthen culture, and demonstrate impact.

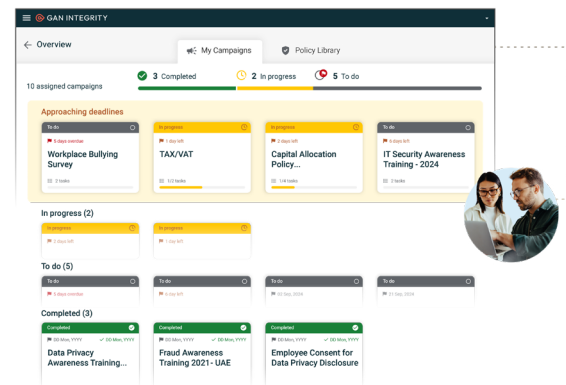

Keeps policies clear, current, and defensible with strong governance

- Establish confidence. Create a consistent process that keeps every policy current and trusted.
- Enable collaboration. Bring stakeholders together so policies stay aligned across teams, risks, and jurisdictions.
- Prove compliance. Show regulators and leadership that your program is audit-ready.

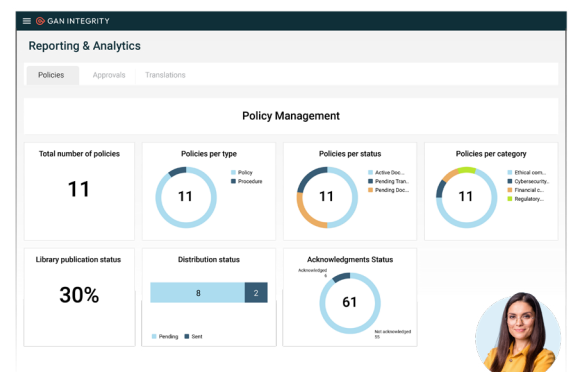

When guidance is clear and access is simple, employees know how to do the right thing.

- Empower understanding. Make it easy for employees to find, read, and understand policies in their language and context.
- Drive consistency. Capture acknowledgment and required actions in one seamless, guided experience.
- Support accountability. Keep employees on track with embedded policy links and contextual prompts.

Connect policies to controls to measure effectiveness and demonstrate impact.

- Reveal insight. Real-time dashboards connect policy, training, disclosure, and incident data to surface emerging risk.
- Demonstrate progress. Tie violations and resolutions back to policy updates to show continuous improvement.
- Strengthen accountability. Link policy activity to employee behavior and program results for evidence-based compliance.

Where Policy Management Becomes the Engine of Connected Compliance

"Since revamping our campaigns for Code of Ethics and Conflict of Interest declarations, completion rates have skyrocketed. We used to see around 40% declaration. Now we're in the 90s. That's a phenomenal improvement."
